

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a desperate shot at trying to manipulate the outcome of the presidential election

Sinclair pays no charge for the use of public air waves, and it has an obligation to serve the public interest. It is NOT in the interest of a true democracy to air a documentary so charged against one of the candidates. Not this close to the elction.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. The license renewal process needs to be revised to avoid this type of action by big owners of air waves.
